Gfest Statement

This year's Gfest submissions have shown a high artistic merit and the response to 'call for entries' was overwhelming. We had a few challenging moments in putting together this exciting programme and selecting from a large number of entries, all having amazing qualities.

I hope you will be interested in attending as many events as possible. A big thank you to all the Gfest 09 funders, supporters, advertisers, media /community partners and especially all of you from the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual & Transgender & arts communities for your kind & continued support to make Gfest a successful & artistically vibrant event in London.

Niranjan Kamatkar

Mayor of London - Statement of support for Gfest

It gives me great pleasure to once again provide my support and congratulations to gayWise for coordinating the Gfest lesbian, gay, bisexual and trans (LGBT) Arts Festival. This event has gone from strength to strength and it is invaluable in giving a forum for members of London's diverse LGBT arts communities, amongst others, the opportunity to promote and celebrate their work.

The contribution of London's LGBT communities is immense. From the London Lesbian and Gay Film Festival, Pride London, LGBT History Month to the wonderful Gay Icons Exhibition and the National Portrait Gallery – these have all added to the richness of London's cultural landscape. Gfest has been very much part of this: developing exciting arts projects that also have strong social and educational merits.

I wish the festival every success and hope it attracts Londoners from all communities.

Richard Barnes

Deputy Mayor of London

Tattoo

Artist: Chantz Perkins

Medium: Alabaster stone, 72 X 19 X 13 cm

Description: Chantz creates the form, a woman's body, that in itself is beautiful in its flow and has 'journey histories': from first seeing the raw stone in the ground, then taking it from New Mexico to London, to her own interpretation of woman as a perfect creation.

About the artist: Chantz Perkins was born in Los Angeles and educated at University of California and Otis Parsons Art Institute in Los Angeles. Originally trained as a painter, the sculptures she saw on her first trip to London inspired her to take up stone carving. Chantz moved to Amsterdam in 1996 to expand her career. She has received various commissions and has participated in many exhibitions in the United States, London and Amsterdam.

Unfold

Artist: Francesca Alaimo

Medium: Digital photography, 35 X 28.87 cm

Description: Francesca uses her artwork as a vehicle through which she can experiment with her own image. She interlaces the melancholy and passion of contemporary reality as an androgyny living in London along with the 21st century references of her Italian childhood.

About the artist: Francesca works in a variety of mediums, from photography to silkscreen, from video to charcoal. The human body has always been the focal point around which her work has revolved. In the past she has explored patterns of figurative and emotional associations between individuals living in the city and the anonymity of urban architecture. She lives and works in London.

Domesticity 2

Artist: Jemma Watts

Medium: Cliche Verre, 20 X 25 cm

Description: Part of a series of nine, this cliché verre is an exploration of the mythology of women's' uncontrolled psychic powers and the home as a cage for adolescent sexuality.

About the artist: Jemma works as artist and educator living in Norfolk. She has been exhibiting nationally over the past two years, and will be embarking on first residency in Finland this summer. She is currently teaching freelance for various institutions including the Sainsbury's Centre for Visual Art and Norwich Art Centre and is an eastern regional editor for Art Art Art Magazine.

Diary

Artist: Jeremy Walker

Medium: Watercolour paint, ink, 42 X 29 cm

Description: Jeremy drew a little on it in ink each day in the run-up to his 16th birthday recently. As well as having to do with daily experiences, this painting has to do with his transgender feelings, LGBT pride and fears.

About the artist: Jeremy has been drawing since he was very young and art has always been important to him, an escape when he's found things difficult. Jeremy is still a student and has high hopes for university and being able to transition fully to male in future.
